

Come On In This Room

A Sacred Space

A sacred space where Rev. Dr. Zina
Jacque teaches, listens and answers the questions you'd never ask from a pew.

COME ON IN

DOORS OPEN NOVEMBER 1 / FREE THROUGH DECEMBER

Why this room exists

Some of the holiest moments of my ministry never happened in a sanctuary. They happened in living rooms and hospital rooms, where somebody put the kettle on, pulled a chair in close and finally asked the question they had carried for years.

This fall I turn 70. Seventy years of ministry, failure, grief and grace have taught me that people don't need another stage. They need a room. So I'm opening the door.

Beloved, come as you are. I've saved you a seat.

Meet your host

Rev. Dr. Zina Jacque

Rev. Dr. Zina Jacque is an American Baptist pastor, preacher and pastoral counselor, and the creator of the Sacred Pause devotional series. For fifteen years she was lead pastor of the Community Church of Barrington in Illinois. She founded the Pastoral Counseling Center of Trinity Church in Boston, led the Boston TenPoint Coalition, and has taught pastoral care at Boston University and the University of Chicago. She holds an M.Div. and Th.D. from

What happens in the room

It isn't a class, a webinar or a Bible study, and nothing is sold inside these walls. Faith is at the center, and every question is welcome.

EVERY WEEK, FREE	TWICE A MONTH	EVERY MONTH
Devotional and conversation	Live with Dr. Zina	The book
A devotional from that week's Sacred Pause theme, a community thread with a question, and a new video.	About 20 minutes of teaching, then the floor is yours: "If you had one question to ask me, what would it be?"	We read together. November's book is Matters of the Heart by Dr. Thema Bryant.

For partners and press

The room is for faith-rooted adults who are still hungry for God but no longer find Him only in a pew on Sunday. Many carry quiet grief. Many are the person everybody else calls.

Zina and Friends

Guest conversations with pastors, writers, counselors and thought leaders, starting in January.

Share the room

Podcast hosts, churches and communities who want to pass the invitation along.

Brand partnerships

Faith, wellness, book and lifestyle brands that fit a reverent, story-first audience.

Gatherings

In-person tables in 2027, in the cities where members gather.
